

Commercial Landscaping Project

The Cleveland Clinic Rehabilitation Center Front Driveway Entrance Project

The Cleveland Clinic contacted us to update and refresh the front landscape at the Children's Rehabilitation Center.

They wanted a more welcoming facility entrance and were unhappy with the outdated landscaping.

Seeking improved usability and curb appeal for the buildings two main entrances and vehicle turn-around, J. Barker Landscaping Company (JBLC) was happy to create a plan to enliven this landscape.

Project Outline:

The current landscape was outdated and needed to be reconceptualized.

Multiple shrubs and plants were not in good health and the overall aesthetic was dull. The area had not had a proper landscape "clean-up" nor a mulch application in years. The landscape needed more vibrancy and sustainable plant life to really spruce it up and provide a welcoming entrance to the facility.

The old landscape lacked color, conformity, and tidiness. The space was bare in areas and over populated with plants in others.

JBLC Project Solutions

- Removed of all of the dead, dying or unappealing plant material.
- Installation of flowering trees and a mix of sustainable plants such as ornamental grasses, colorful perennials, and shrubs.
- Applied new soil to all landscape beds to provide nutrients and a strong growing season for all new plant materials.
- Edged all landscape beds and cleared all leaves and debris.
- Covered all landscape bed with high quality mulch to aid plant maintenance and enliven the property's curb appeal.

Project Outcomes:

JBLC created a beautiful and welcoming entrance space full of colorful plants. The reimagined entrance landscape is now lively, neat, and well maintained.

We are proud to add this updated property landscape to our portfolio.
